THS Girl Wins 2 Scholarship Awards, $800

Two scholarship prizes, totaling $800 in cash within one week. Impossible? No—Elizabeth Shaw, Torrance High School senior did it.

Miss Shaw received word this week that she has won first prize in the 1953 North American Management Club $1000 scholarship contest, for which she gets $500, and she has also won the annual Elks $300 scholarship award.

She has also been nominated for the National Association of Foremen Regional Scholarship contest, which offers another $900, and she has been selected to represent Torrance in the California Scholarship Federation competition.

Miss Shaw, who lives at 220 Via Linda Vista in the Hollywood Riviera, is majoring in physical science and plans to use her newly-acquired scholarship wealth to further her education at Stanford University.

In addition to her scholarship accomplishments, she has been very active in school affairs, having been secretary of the student body and commissioner of publicity last year, and president of the Girls' League and vice-president of the senior class this year.

Three other students in the South Bay area won Elks state

The contest is sponsored by the American Automobile Association.

1. Jimmie was a shy little kid when he started out as a newspaperboy. He didn't have much "get up and go". In fact, he was even a little afraid of meeting and talking to folks on his route.
2. Within a couple of weeks, Jimmie got over some of his bashfulness. He enjoyed chatting with customers when making collections. He's learned the value of money from first-hand experience.
3. In competition with other boys, Jimmie is finding out how to "sell" and conduct a business of his own. He wins extra rewards. He makes greater route profits. He even carries his own insurance.
4. Jimmie has developed into the kind of boy you like to meet. And, he is continuing to learn principles that will pay big dividends in later years.
